I am sending the enclosed leaflets containing data of the descendants of Lyman Whitney Strong, Eliphalet Strong and Alvin Strong along with "Mayflower" connections-to 50 or 60 Genealogical Libraries in the country with the thought of their being placed in their files.

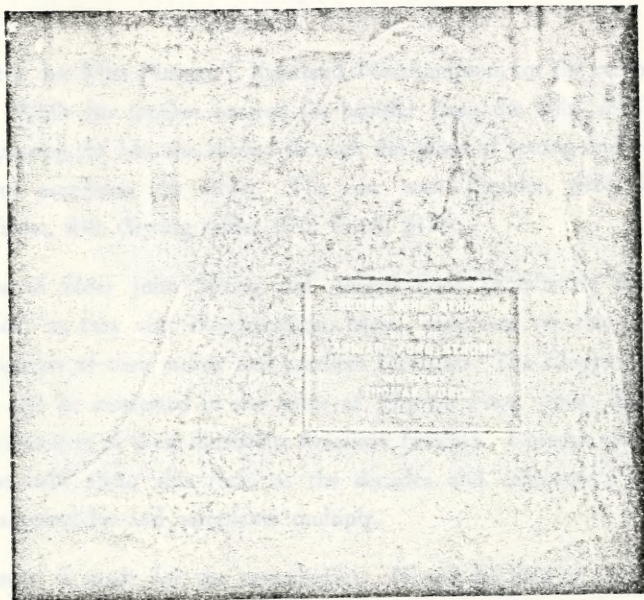

Those libraries having copies of B. W. Dwight's History of the Strong Family may find it to their advantage to insert them in the right place - the volume and page being indicated in the first part of the leaflets. More copies may be obtained from the undersigned.

The Boulder-Monument

Bridge Street Cemetery - Northampton, Mass.

A STATEMENT

According to B. W. Dwight's "History of the Strong Family," John Strong was the first Strong in America and was the progenitor of nearly all the Strong's now here, along with their co-relatives. According to Governor Caleb Strong, whose statement Dwight quotes in full, Vol. 1, page XXVI, XXVII, John Strong came on the "Mary and John" in 1630 and married Abigail Ford in 1635 or 1636. (Some genealogists place his coming—not Abigail's coming—as late as 1635. I may say that, aided by the splendid New York Library, I have gone over the evidence, and believe that Governor Strong's statement that John Strong came on the "Mary and John" will stand.)

Thomas Ford, whose name is on this monument, was a man of force and character. Three other daughters married Roger Clap, Richard Lyman and Aaron Cook—progenitors of distinguished American families. John Strong and Abigail Ford had a family of 15 or 16 children. Before he died in 1699 there were about him 150 descendants. He was in or near the beginnings of Dorchester, Hingham, Taunton, Mass., and Windsor, Conn. About 1660, he and Abigail settled in Northampton, Mass. He was there the first ruling elder—and for nearly 40 years, until his death, in 1699.

While occupying the pulpit of the First Church, Northampton, July, 1928, I found that no monument had been erected in memory of these progenitors of the Strong family. A few of us put our minds together, and the result is the boulder monument.

Chief credit is due Miss Harriet J. Kneeland, Northampton, for the completion of the project. While her brother secured the boulder from the hills, and I had the pleasure of passing the hat, she carried through the plans of setting and cutting the boulder, and preparing the tablet. The cost was: Boulder, $18; Setting boulder, $50; Tablet, $48; Setting tablet, $70; Total, $186.

Descendants of Elder John Strong and Abigail Ford (numbering tens and tens of thousands) as they visit Northampton, Mass., may now see this boulder-monument, in memory of their sturdy and excellent forebears. The Clapps, Lymans and Cooks will also be interested in the name of Thomas Ford, whose daughters were the women-founders of these illustrious American families. I predict that many reunions will be held about this rock, as the decades and centuries pass—and increasingly as automobiles and aeroplanes multiply.

This statement is made for the contributors. It will be filed in the Forbes Library, Northampton, along with the receipts.

DESCENDANTS OF ELDER JOHN STRONG, OF NORTHAMPTON, MASS.

III.

DESCENDANTS OF JEDEDIAH STRONG OF COV- ENTRY, CT., SON OF ELDER JOHN STRONG, OF NORTHAMPTON.

8-9. iv. JEDEDIAH STRONG (son of Elder John Strong of Northampton and Abigail Ford) b. May 7, 1637, (and bapt. April 14, 1639), m. Nov. 18, 1662, Freedom Woodward, bapt. at Dorchester, Mass., in 1642 (daugh. of Henry Woodward, afterwards of Northampton, and "one of the pillars of the church," there, and Elizabeth his wife). He was a farmer at Northampton until 1709, when at the age of 70 years and upwards he removed with his family to Coventry, Ct., where 24 years afterwards he d. May 22, 1733, aged 96; during the years 1677-8 & 9, he was paid 18 shillings a year for blowing the trumpet on Sunday to summon the people to church. His wife Freedom d. May 17, 1681, and he m. Dec. 19, 1681, for 2d wife Abigail Stebbins b. Sept. 6, 1660 (daugh. of John Stebbins, of Northampton, and Abigail Bartlett—daugh. of Robert and Anne Bartlett, of Hartford, and afterwards of Northampton). She d. July 15, 1689, and he m. Jan. 5, 1691-2, for 3d wife Mrs. Mary (Hart) Lee widow of John Lee, of Farmington, Ct., and daugh. of Stephen Hart, of Farmington. He lived with his first wife 19 years, with his second 7, and with his third wife 9, and notwithstanding his three marriages spent 33 years as a widower, and 61 unmarried. His wife Mary d. Oct. 10, 1719, from the injury which she received the day previous, by the fall of the horse on which she was riding (on a pillion behind her husband), when just started well upon their way to Coventry, together, to visit their children. The record reads thus at Northampton: "Oct. 9, 1710, Jedediah

770 Descendants of Jedediah Strong of Coventry, Ct.,

Strong, and wife set out early in the morning to visit their children, at Coventry; but when they came against the Falls (at S. Hadley) among the broad smooth stones, the horse's feet slipped up and he fell flat on the off side and by the fall killed the woman: though she was not quite dead then, but had life in her until the next day — yet never spoke a word." He was constable in 1683.

[A few facts gleaned concerning the early history of the Woodward, Stebbins and Bartlett families, connected with this branch of the Strong family, are worth recording here.

I. Henry Woodward was a member of the Dorchester church in 1639, and removed to Northampton, in 1659. He came from Much Worton, Lancashire, Eng., and was "killed by lightning at the upper corn mill," April 7, 1683. He had 4 children: 1. Experience who m. Nov. 21, 1661, Medad Pomeroy. 2. Freedom (Mrs. Jedediah Strong). 3. Thankful who m. Dec. 18, 1662, John Taylor. 4. John.

He was "licensed to keep ordinary and sell wines and liquors," as reputable then as any other business, each year for several years successively (1665-81), during which time he regularly "entertained the court" which sat each year in Northampton.

II. John Stebbins was the son of Rowland Stebbins the settler, of Springfield, the original home of all the Stebbinses of America. The name was originally Stebbing. Rowland Stebbins came to this country in 1636, from the west of England, when 41 years old, having been born in 1594. He d. in Northampton, Dec. 4, 1671, aged 77. John Stebbins removed to Northampton, about 1656, where he d. March 7, 1679. He m. his wife, widow Ann Munden, at Springfield, March 14, 1646. She d. about 1656, and he m. Dec. 17, 1657, as his 2d wife, Abigail Bartlett (dau. of Robert and Anne Bartlett, of Hartford). After his death she m. Dec. 28, 1681, Jedediah Strong. John Stebbins had by his two wives 16 children: By his first wife: 1. John Stebbins b. Jan. 28, 1647. 2. Thomas who d. early. 3. Edward. 4. Anne who d. early. 5. Benoni b. June 23, 1655. By second wife: 6. Samuel b. Jan. 21, 1658-9, m. Mary French. 7. Abigail b. Sept. 24, 1660, m. May 30, 1678, William Phelps. 8. Thomas (2d) b. May 6, 1662, m. Sept. 26, 1684, Elizabeth Wright and for 2d wife Dec. 17, 1701, Sarah Strong. 9. Hannah b. July 8, 1664, m. Nov. 5, 1679, John Sheldon. 10. Mary b. Sept. 10, 1663, m. Nov. 17, 1683, Thomas Strong, Jr. 11. Sarah b. June 4, 1668, m. Feb. 24, 1687, William Southwell. 12. Joseph b. Jan. 17, 1670, d. June 3, 1681. 13. Deborah b. March 5, 1672, m. about 1690, Benjamin Alvord. 14. Benjamin baptized May 3, 1674, m. Dec. 21, 1699, Mary Ashley of Westfield. 15. Rebecca b. Feb. 20, 1676, m. Nathaniel Strong. 16. Thankful b. May 11, 1678, m. in 1700, Jerijah Strong; see subsequent page.

III. Robert Bartlett father of Abigail (Bartlett) Stebbins was an early settler at Hartford, and removed to Northampton about 1655. He was slain by the Indians March 14, 1676, when they broke through the palisades into the village. His widow Anne d. July 3, 1676. He was a farmer, and his estate was appraised at £654.]

[3d Gen.]

14256-7. i. ELIZABETH STRONG (dau. of Jedediah and Freedom Strong) b. June 9, 1664, m. Sept. 16, 1684, Ebenezer Wright b. March 20, 1662-3 (son of Samuel Wright, Jr., slain at Northfield, Sept. 2, 1675, and Elizabeth Burt of Springfield whom he m. Nov. 24, 1653, and who m. for a 2d husband Nathaniel Dickinson of Hatfield). She d. Feb. 17, 1691-2. He m. for 2d wife Dec. 19, 1692, Hannah Hunt by whom he had eight children. They had one child:

14278. 1. Mary Wright that d. a few days before its mother, Feb. 12, 1691.

14258-9. ii. ABIGAIL STRONG (dau. of Jedediah and Freedom Strong) b. July 3, 1666, m. Nov. 17, 1683, Thomas King of Hatfield b. July 14, 1662 (son of John King of Northampton, and Sarah Holton). She d. July 24, 1689, aged 23. He d. at Hartford, Ct., Dec. 20, 1711. He m. for second wife in 1690, Mary Webster, dau. of Robert Webster of Hartford.

[4th Gen.] Children:

14279. i. THOMAS King, Jr., b. in Northampton, Dec. 3, 1684, d. young.
14280. ii. ABIGAIL King b. in Hatfield Jan. 31, 1687.

[3d Gen.]

14260-1. iii. JEDEDIAH STRONG, JR., b. Aug. 7, 1667, m. Nov. 8, 1688, Abiah (also called Abijah) Ingersoll b. Aug. 24, 1663 (dau. of John Ingersoll first of Hartford then of Northampton, and afterwards of Westfield, Mass., and Abigail Bascom, his second wife). He was a farmer at Northampton until Aug. 24, 1696, when he removed to Lebanon, Ct., when there were but four white families in it. He was killed by Indians at Wood Creek, N. Y., Oct. 12, 1709, aged 42. She d. Nov. 20, 1732, aged 69. No one's name appears oftener on the early records of Lebanon, as a committee-man on various matters of public interest. The following letter written to his son Stephen (then aged 19), a few months previous to his death, will interest his descendants:

"Son Stephen:

"Hearty love to you, hoping you are well; as I am, blessed be God for it. I have nothing of news to write to you. I wrote a letter to your mother yesterday, and therein all the news I have: but yet I gladly take the opportunity to write a word to you, as a testification of my love to you. I hope you will be mindful of the advice I left you. Be tender of, and obedient to your mother. I hope you take care of affairs at home; they are but little in my thoughts; but I daily mind you, and God forbid that I should cease to pray for you daily. I want such opportunity for it as I had at home. Dear son, pray for yourself and for me also. Give my respects to your mother. What I here say to you, I herein say to the rest of my dear ones. Also my affectionate love to my dear daughter. Naught else.

I remain your affectionate father,

JEDEDIAH STRONG."

July 19, 1709.

Five of these children: Lydia, Peter, Abel, Hannah, and Reuben, died within ten days of each other of "the black throat distemper," as it was called. For an account of this scourge which began in 1734, and ravaged the country for several years, sweeping off children in large numbers, and sometimes obliterating in a few days large families of them, see Trumbull's Hist. of Connecticut, vol. ii, p. 137, etc. Lydia Strong d. Aug. 3, 1740; Hannah, Aug. 9; Peter, Aug. 12; Ruby Aug. 16; Abel, Aug. 23, 1740.

[Lebanon, Ct., has had a remarkable history. No town in the whole country has compared with it at all in the number of leading professional men that it has furnished to the nation. The reasons for such a marvelous fruitfulness in producing great and good men in a population so small, scattered and quiet, are worth finding out. To the author who has long admired the noble history of this little town they seem to be the following reasons combined: In the first place, the first settlers themselves who went there from 1695, onwards, for several years that "the worship of God might be there set up and the kingdom of Christ enlarged," were of a superior stock, the very best intellectual and religious material for "a new plantation" that Northampton, Norwich, etc., could furnish. Another fact in the case was, that the land at Lebanon was and is of a very superior quality, rewarding those who till it industriously in each generation with the means of providing generously for the higher wants of their families. But most of all must be taken into account the grand school privileges of Lebanon in its early history. In 1700, the town appropriated 200 acres of land for a school and many of the proprietors gave of their own lands also for the same purpose.—Rev. Joseph Parsons giving five acres of his land. In 1740 a grammar school was established by a vote of the town, and it became a school of great celebrity, having pupils from 9 out of the 13 states of which the Union was then composed, and sending large numbers of them in successive years to Harvard and Yale.

Here especially Nathan Tisdale, "Master Tisdale," as he has always been called, did a great work for his generation. He was b. in Lebanon, Sept. 19, 1732, and grad. at Harvard in 1749, æt. 17, and took charge of the grammar school from his graduation to his death for 37 years (1749–1786). He was a strict disciplinarian, most exact in his work, and exacting in his requisitions of the right style of effort on the part of his pupils. He was an artist in his high calling and loved art itself, and inspired his pupils with his own enthusiasm as a thinker, and worker. A noble procession of well trained minds came out from under his care for many long years to put their best endeavors to the advancement of the higher interests of their day. They were such as Jeremiah Mason, Zephaniah Swift, Col. John Trumbull, Gov. Jonathan Trumbull, Jr., Rev. Dr. Lyman, Judge Baldwin, and a host of others like them. Wherever any of the Strong Family trace back their lineage to Lebanon, Ct., let "Master Tisdale," be held in lasting honor for his noble ideas and efforts. And let any of the family who wish to do the utmost in their power for the lasting welfare of the towns or cities in which they live, do what they can for the promotion in permanent ways of the interests of the higher Christian education in them.]

S. A. of Vols., of the second army corps (Gen. Sumner). His only watchword as a scholar, teacher or soldier, was duty. When his fellow teachers and pupils expressed the fear on parting with him that they should never see his face again, he replied "I never think of that; I am persuaded that it is my duty to do what I can to save my country." In writing to them afterwards from camp he said, "I do not know that in all my life, I ever so truly desired and earnestly endeavored to have my heart right and my words and actions unexceptionable as since I came to this den of wickedness, the military camp of the Potomac." Again he says, "When I have been entering the crash of battle I have felt that prayer and faith have been the hands where-with a soul clings to heaven and safety. I have learned to trust all hopes for this world and the next to him who died that I might live." He d. at New York Aug. 7, 1862, when on his way homewards.

Nov. 22, 1795 (dau. of Gen. Henry William Harrington and Rosa Auld): no issue. He received his classical education at Oneida Academy (now Hamilton College), Clinton, N. Y., read law with Hon. Jonas Platt of Whitesborough; was for two years in partnership in legal practice with a Mr. Lynch at Rome, Oneida Co., N. Y.; when he went to New York and associated himself with Hon. Austin Seely as a law partner, but being threatened with consumption, removed about 1811, to Fayetteville, N. C. He was a man of superior talents. His widow resides now (1869) at Richmond, Dallas Co., Ala., with an adopted daughter, Mrs. Dr. John H. Williamson. Gen. Henry W. Harrington was an active and zealous soldier in the Revolutionary war.

[7th Gen.]

14612-4. iv. HON. STEPHEN STRONG (son of Adonijah Strong and Hepzibah Bliss) b. Oct. 11, 1791, at Lebanon, Ct.: removed to Owego, Tioga Co., N. Y., in 1813, m. July 10, 1838, widow Abigail Camp of Owego, former wife of William Camp of that place and dau. of Capt. Asaph Whittlesey of Washington, Ct., b. May 12, 1753, and Abigail Sheils. [Capt. Asaph Whittlesey was butchered in the massacre at Wyoming, Pa., at the head of his company of 44 men. He was the son of Eliphalet Whittlesey, Jr., of Washington, Ct., a farmer, and Dorothy Kellogg. His father was Eliphalet Whittlesey, a farmer at Newington, Ct., whose wife was Mary Pratt, who was the son of John Whittlesey, the settler, who came to America and became a tanner and shoemaker at Saybrook, Ct. He m. Ruth Dudley, granddaughter of Gov. Thomas Dudley of Mass. Dorothy Kellogg, mother of Capt. Asaph Whittlesey was the daughter of Martin Kellogg and Dorothy Chester, who was daughter of Stephen Chester of Wethersfield, Ct., and Jemima Treat. He was the son of John Chester of Wethersfield, and Sarah Welles, dau. of Gov. Thomas Welles of Connecticut—its fourth Governor.] Mrs. Abigail Strong, d. Oct. 29, 1858, and he m. for 2d wife, June 19, 1861, widow Roxana Terry Woodruff (former wife of N. M. Woodruff of Watertown, N. Y., a hardware merchant, and dau. of Eli Bush of Perry, N. Y., and Roxana Terry). She resides at Watertown. He d. April 5, 1866, of congestion of the lungs. He received his principal education at Oneida Academy, at Clinton, N. Y. (now Hamilton College). He was an eminent advocate, famous not for his technical legal knowledge, but for his great tact and ingenuity, and wonderful resources of his own in the management of cases, and for his inspiring and magnetic powers of eloquent speech which was always more powerful than polished. He was district attorney of Tioga county, afterwards first judge of the County Court and member of the 29th Congress (1846-7). He had no children. Says his stepson of him, George Sidney Camp, Esq., of Owego, for many years his law-partner: "The second marriage of Judge Strong, though contracted when he was 70 years of age was equal to any marriage that I ever knew in the happiness that it afforded all concerned. He was one of the kindest hearted and most genial men that ever I knew, the best proof of which is that he was loved as a father by the children of former marriages in both of the families into which he married."

He was instinctively polite and free with both hand and heart everywhere, and remarkably frank and unreserved on all occasions and made alike warm friends and bitter enemies. He had an inexhaustible fund of good spirits at all times. He was a great reader rather than a close student. He was very tall, above six feet in stature, of dark complexion, high and prominent cheek bones, and a large mouth, and marked but interesting features. There is a fine portrait of him at Owego, by Bodle.

Wrestling was a favorite amusement with our Puritan forefathers. Many came at different times from the neighboring towns, and assembled in the ample courtyard of his house to witness wrestling matches appointed with him, in which he always came off victor. He would jump over a string as high as his head. Once during the Revolutionary war. he was chased by some British cavalry soldiers and stopped to put up some bars that were down in order to hinder them and heard one of them say — he was so near — “he might have killed that cuss as well as not, but he hated to see the great long fellow die.” Schools were poor and books few in his early years, but in his after life he was very fond of reading. He was so unfortunate as to set fire on a windy day, in the absence of his father, to some underbrush, for the purpose of clearing the land, the better, around the homestead, which resulted in burning up the house and barn with their contents, and the lumber that had been gathered together for the erection of a new house. His nerves were so shattered by this terrible blow to the fortunes and hopes of his parents that he never saw a well day afterwards, but was for 28 years confined to his bed. He could not bear any noise, and had to be in a small house alone by himself with an attendant, and was so cold always that a fire must be kept up at all times even in summer in his room. He weighed 270lbs., and d. July 9, 1813. He bore his sufferings, which were great, with Christian fortitude.

15459-61. CAPT. JOHN STRONG b. Sept. 5, 1723. He was a farmer at Hartford, Vt., for a short time (1769-72), as he is recorded there as town clerk at that time and appears as a surveyor. Where he was previously is not certain, but probably at Hebron. In 1773, he with a few others began the settlement of Woodstock, Vt. With his son-in-law

Benjamin Burch, he put up a log house and opened the first tavern in the town. In 1775, and '6, he was one of the council of safety chosen for Cumberland county, and was in 1776-7 a captain of a company of Rangers under Gen. Schuyler. He was several times chosen a member of the legislature of Vermont (1777, 8, and 9, and in 1782). Various town trusts and offices were often committed to him. In 1778-9, he built a saw-mill and grist-mill, which he kept in lively motion, together with his inn, and was a man whose heart and hands were at all times full of business. In 1804, when 81 years old and poor, he removed with his grandson, Benjamin Burch, Jr., to Argenteuil, Canada, near Montreal, where after two years he died, and his wife soon followed him to the grave. Many of his descendants of the name of Burch are said to reside there now. Captain John Strong m. twice. The name of his first wife it has not been possible to obtain. She d. at Woodstock, Vt., aged about 60, Jan. 15, 1784. He m. for a second wife, afterwards, widow Mary Hoi-sington. What children he had beyond two is unknown to the author.

15476- 7. 1. Sally Strong, who m. Benjamin Burch ; between whom and himself all things, houses, lands, home and occupation, were held in common.

15478- 9. 2. Freedom Strong b. in Hebron, Ct., Feb., 1747, m. in 1762, Richard English. Of their family but a meagre account has been gleaned, and that after much effort. The needed records are doubtless garnered safely somewhere ; but hitherto the spot where they lie concealed has not been found. Could a little longer time be spared for the pursuit of further facts than the few scanty details which are here furnished, and which have very recently come to hand, the author doubts not that ample justice might be done to Capt. Strong's family history. Richard English and Freedom Strong, had 14 children. She d. Oct. 6, 1839.

15480- 1. (1.) Their daughter Esther m. Isaiah Daggett, of Conn.

[Mrs. Lucy Kingsley Lyman of Westhampton, Mass., now (1871) 77 years of age, granddaughter of Ezra Strong of Williamsburgh, Mass.,

and Temperance Phelps of Hebron (see subsequent page), a lady of vigorous mind who has helped me much in various ways in gathering up ancestral memories and traditions respecting her large branch of the family, wrote me under date of March 18, 1870, to this effect: that a few years since she was visiting her aunt, Mrs. Asenath (Strong) Claghorne (see subsequent page), her school teacher in early life, and a lady at the time of sound mind, remarkable memory and much intelligence, with her relative Miss Clarissa Ludden of Westhampton; and that as her aunt showed her some bed spreads marked Abigail Caverley Strong, with her own hand, she said I never knew whence the name Caverley came into the family. She looked up with surprise and said: "Did not you know that we had royal blood in our veins: our ancestor (Phelps) was rightful heir to the crown of England, but as there was another more favorite with the people, he to avoid bloodshed fled to this country with a young man by the name of Caverley then about 18 years of age, his nephew and the king's foot page. Having access to the royal treasury he loaded a ship with silver, came to Boston, changed his name, and purchased land largely, as Boston Neck, a part of Charlestown, and other public lands. After some time learning that a great reward was offered for his capture, he changed his name again, destroyed all his papers, and went to Connecticut (Hebron), to hide himself from his pursuers. She said that she had heard her mother (Mrs. Temperance (Phelps) Strong), say that she went with her grandmother Caverley into the room where some of the silver was deposited (in the walls). Mrs. Lyman remembers hearing her grandmother say, that her father owned a good deal of Boston in real fact. She asked her, why he did not go and recover it, and was answered that her father thought that it would hurt very many people a great deal more than it would do him good. "I have often," she says, "heard my mother say, that her grandfather (Solomon Phelps), was a very rich man." She added, that from another source she learned some years ago, that her grandmother Temperance Phelps, was partially engaged to another person and that her father finding it out asked her to take a ride with him, and disclosed to her some of the facts of his early history in connection with the Caverleys in consequence of which she accepted the hand of Ezra Strong and the two families were united in one. His kingly name Guelph he changed to Phelps, dropping the g and altering u or v to ph. This family tradition has enough of the spice of curiosity in it to keep it good from one generation to another. It is garnered up in these pages for the amusement of Abigail Caverley's descendants in all time.]

14269-70. ix. LYDIA STRONG (dau. of Jedediah Strong, of Coventry, and Freedom Woodward) b. Nov. 9, 1675, m. Sept. 5, 1695, David Lee b. in 1674 (son of John Lee the settler, and Mary Hart dau. of Dea. Stephen Hart) a weaver at Coventry (1709-29) where his wife d. July 16, 1718. He m. May 27, 1719, for 2d wife, Elizabeth.....(the family name is illegible in the record) and removed to Lebanon, Ct., where he lived for 30 years (1729-59) and d. in 1759, aged 85. Previously to 1709 he lived at Northampton.

[JOHN LEE b. in 1621, came to this country from Ipswich, Eng., in Ship Francis, the last of April, 1634, when but 13 years of age, under the care of Mr. William Westwood. This gentleman settled at Newtown (Cambridge) Mass., whence he soon went to Hartford, Ct., in the company that settled that place, and was a prominent man there in the early years of that town. He and Dea. Stephen Hart lived side by side. Next we find Stephen Hart among the first settlers of Farmington, and soon afterwards, John Lee, also made freeman in it. In 1658, John Lee married Mary Hart, daughter of Dea. Stephen Hart. They united with the church July 15, 1660, under the care of Rev. Roger Newton. At his death in 1689, his estate was appraised at £359, lawful money. He was 68 years old. His children were: i. John Lee b. June 11, 1659. ii. Mary Lee b. Aug. 14, 1664: m. Dec. 28, 1682, Stephen Upson. iii. Stephen Lee b. April 2, 1669. iv. Thomas Lee b. in 1670. v. David Lee b. in 1674. vi. Tabitha Lee d. in 1677, m. Oct. 23, 1701. Preserved Strong (son of Jedediah and Freedom Strong) and d. June 23, 1750.

Mrs. Mary (Hart) Lee, widow of John Lee, the settler, m. Jan. 5, 1692, Jedediah Strong of Northampton as his 3d wife, by which marriage Preserved Strong became both her step-son and son-in-law. In removing to Northampton, in consequence of this marriage, she took her two youngest children, David and Tabitha to that place with her. She d. Oct. 10, 1700, by the fall off a horse (as already described under account of the family of Jedediah Strong, p. 770), aged 70. As to the family of Dea. Stephen Hart (deacon in the church of Rev. Thomas Hooker of Hartford) the author has not been able to gather very specific details. The records at Farmington back of 1682, are very imperfect and some of the earlier records were destroyed by fire. Whom Dea. Stephen Hart m. the author has not been able to find. His children were: I. John, II. Stephen, Jr. III. Thomas IV. Sarah. V. Mary Hart b. in 1630, whom John Lee and for a 2d husband Jedediah Strong. VI. Mehitable. VII. Margaret Hart who m. Asahel Strong of Farmington (son of Thomas Strong of Northampton, and Mary Hewett). Dea. Stephen Hart d. in 1683. His son Stephen, Jr., d. about 1689.]

Mrs. Olive Skeel in closing this account of her family, says: "I find myself rapidly descending towards the sunset of life, being nearly 82 years of age, and the only one of my father's family still living. But I trust in Christ, our precious Savior, and hope to meet the loved ones that have passed on before me in that land where those who have died in the triumph of faith go no more out for ever."

18364-5. v. GENL. JOHN STRONG (son of Noah and Deborah Strong) b. Aug. 16, 1738: m. Sept. 2, 1759, Agnes McCure b. in Salisbury Ct., April 2, 1739 (only daughter of John McCure a wealthy land holder) in Edinburgh, Scotland.

[John McCure was deeply implicated in the rebellion of 1715, in Scotland, and fled to this country, having first put his large property into the hands of a friend, to prevent its confiscation. He was in the receipt of rents until the time of his death, after which no remittances were made. He left surviving him his wife whose death occurred soon, and a young son John and daughter Agnes. John died soon after his parents, being killed in a naval engagement; and Agnes, the only survivor of this once prosperous family, was put out to service in her orphanage and poverty, in which condition she remained until her marriage.]

In September, 1765, John Strong, then 27 years old, went up to the eastern side of Lake Champlain, to look for a home in the Vermont wilderness, in company with a friend who went thither on his usual hunting excursion in the fall. He selected then the spot for a farm on which he afterwards lived and died, in Addison, Vt., and put up upon it a rude house for a home into which in February following (1766) he moved with his wife and three children: Asa, aged 6; Samuel, aged 3; and Polly 1½ years. Here in June following his fourth child John was born. This was the first house, it is said built by an English settler, north of Massachusetts, and his son John was the first English child born in Addison Co., Vt. There also his children, Electa, Luke, Chloe, Moses and Cyrus, were born. His wife and three children and household effects were all abundantly accommodated in his sleigh "drawn by an old pair of mares." Scanty enough was his complete inventory of worldly goods. Their life in the woods was full of toils and adventures. The husband was ever busy with his axe and hoe, even while shaking with chills and fever, and in danger at different times, while at his work, from bears which were numerous and fierce, and from the Indians and the British. The wife, though of delicate form and fragile constitution, had a stout heart, and bravely faced the severe trials and dangers of her pioneer life, away from friends, and the many comforts of cultivated society. They both lived to see the wilderness blossom around them as the rose, and to remember their early experiences of toil and trouble, as a far-off dream of sadness, with just deep enough shadows in it, to make the brightness of their later years all the more beautiful in the contrast. There is a brief biographical account of him in "The History of Addison County, Vt.," which is full of the romance of pioneer life in the early settlement of this country. In June, 1777, when Burgoyne took Crown Point, his family fled, in his absence, from the Indians, who came with the British through that region, sweeping every thing before them, and burned his house already emptied of its inhabitants. After a long separation from them and search after them, he accidentally discovered them at Dorset, Vt., and remained there with them for several years. Here his daughter Mabel was born. He represented Dorset in the State legislature from 1779 to 1782. In 1781, he was elected Asst. Judge for Bennington Co., and also in 1782. In 1783, he returned to Addison, to the large farm on which ever since some of his descendants have lived. He was an extensive landholder. He was elected to the legislature from Addison in 1784, 5, and 6. In 1785, he was elected first judge of the Court of Addison Co., and in 1786, judge of probate and member of the Council. These offices he held until 1801. In 1791, he was a member of the convention that ratified the Constitution of the United States. On the admission of Vermont into the Union, in 1801, he resigned all his public offices. He was a member of the Cong. Ch., of Addison, and a man of liberal ideas and ways. He d. June 16, 1816; she d. March 3, 1829. In Prest. Dwight's "Travels in New England," vol. ii, p. 443, occurs the following statement concerning Major Genl. John Strong: "During the early periods of his residence in Addison, availing himself of the market furnished by the British garrison at Crown Point and the high prices which they gave for every thing supplied by his plantation, he became possessed of very handsome property. In the war he experienced a painful reverse of fortune. His house was burnt, his cattle were carried off, and his furniture was plundered by the British. Once he was made a prisoner by the Indians, in their service, and both himself and his family were shamefully abused. When he regained his liberty he retired to Arlington, where he took a farm upon lease and cultivated it until the year 1783. After the peace he returned to Addison, and by various business industriously and prudently pursued, has raised himself to affluence."

A. as a private in the 18th Ill., Regt. Vol. Inf., and was soon promoted to the command of his company: was in the battles at Belmont, Fort Henry, and Fort Donaldson: was detailed with his company on "the Queen of the West," one of the Mississippi ram fleet, and was in command when she ran by the batteries at Vicksburgh, and was publicly commended for his personal bravery. He was afterwards put in command of "The Indianola," another of the ram fleet, to open up the Mississippi and Red rivers for the passage of transports which he gallantly achieved. He was on the Indianola when she was captured, after having been disabled in action. Last to leave the boat he saved his life only by floating in the night on a cotton bale some seven miles in the Red River when he was picked up faint and feeble by a gunboat. He was afterwards put in command of "The Switzerland." He saw much severe service from first to last, which induced the disease, consumption, of which he died. He went in 1866, at the expiration of his term of service to California for his health, where this noble patriot died as truly for his country, as if falling in the smoke of battle, at St. Helena, Cal., Oct. 10, 1868. He went at once at the beginning of the late war into the service of his country, enlisting as a private in the 1st Ill. Cavalry, furnishing his own horse and equipments. After two years of hard service he was compelled greatly to his regret to leave the army and attend to his failing health: but in 1864, he died at St. Louis, at the house of his sister. He was betrothed to Miss Eliza Morrison of Chester.

19245-6. ix. RICHARD STANLEY TUTHILL b. Nov. 10, 1841: grad. at Middlebury, in 1863. He joined the U. S. Army at once, after his graduation, at Vicksburgh, Miss., and was commissioned Lieut. in De Golyer's Mich. Battery, attached at that time, to the old Third Division of the 17th Army Corps. He was in active service in the field throughout the war, and took part in the Mississippi and Georgia campaign, the siege of Atlanta, etc. At the battle of Nashville he was in command of Fort Morton and took an active part in the three days' fighting that ensued. At the close of the war he was senior first lieut. in command of a battery, and on May 29, 1865, he resigned his commission and commenced the study of law under H. H. Harrison, Esq., of Nashville, Tenn., since Judge of the Supreme Court of Tennessee. He was duly admitted to practice, and on Jan. 4, 1868, was elected Attorney General for the Nashville Circuit for six years. He has been also alderman of the city of Nashville, and State director of two different rail roads. He m. Aug. 24, 1868, Jeanie Frances Smith of Vergennes, Vt. 19100-1. x. MABEL STRONG (dau. of Gen. John Strong and Agnes McCure) b. May 29, 1782, m. Feb. 23, 1800, Moses Seymour, Jr., b. June 30, 1774 (son of Major Moses Seymour of Litchfield, and Mary Marsh): a merchant at Litchfield, postmaster for 25 years, high sheriff of the county for six years. In connection with Gen. Samuel Strong of Vergennes (his brother-in-law), he introduced carding machines into the United States, about the beginning of this century, and they were the first to do so. They had some twenty of them in operation in different parts of New England: carding of wool and cotton was performed previously by hand-cards. In this movement they were the forerunners of the great woolen and cotton manufacturing enterprises of this country.

[Major Moses Seymour was the son of Moses Seymour of West Hartford, who was the son of John Seymour, son of John, the son of Richard Seymour the settler, who came to this country in 1636, and settled at Hartford. He is supposed to have been the son of Chaplain Richard Seymour, who in the expedition of Lord Popham to found a colony on the coast of Maine, was the first to preach the gospel to the Indians in this country. Major Moses Seymour was born at Hartford, July 25, 1742. He m. Mary Marsh b. in 1753, dau. of Hon. Ebenezer Marsh of Litchfield. She d. July 17, 1826, æt. 73. He was actively engaged in the Revolutionary war, and commanded a company of cavalry at the surrender of Burgoyne. He was for 37 years town clerk of Litchfield, and for 30 sessions representative of the town in the Conn. Legislature. He was an Episcopalian, and for 17 years senior warden of St. Michael's Church. He is said to have originated the plan and to have been greatly instrumental in its consummation of securing the proceeds of the sale of western lands (called "New Connecticut") to the promotion of Common School education. The plan was strongly opposed and was at last carried in congress by the casting vote of Hon. Gideon Granger speaker of the house. He d. Sept. 17, 1826, æt. 84. His children were :

I. Clarissa Seymour b. Aug. 3, 1772, who m. Rev. Truman Marsh, grad. at Yale in 1786. She d. in 1864, aged 92.

Origen Storrs Seymour, LL.D., grad. at Yale in 1824; M. C. (1851-5); and afterwards for 8 years judge of the Superior Court of Connecticut. 2. Henrietta Seymour who m. Hon. George Catlin Woodruff (who was b. in Litchfield, Dec. 1, 1805, grad. at Yale in 1825; M. C. in 37th Congress (1861-3), and judge of probate). 3. Selima Seymour who m. Judge D. C. Sanford.

IV. Horatio Seymour, LL.D., b. May 31, 1778, grad. at Yale in 1797: a lawyer at Middlebury, Vt., and U. S. Senator (1821-33) from Vermont, and judge of probate for 10 years (1847-57), he d. Nov. 21, 1857. He m. Lucy Case of Addison, Vt., and had several children.

V. Henry Seymour of Utica, N. Y.: one of the commissioners who constructed the Erie canal: mayor of Utica and State Senator. He was the father of Hon. Horatio Seymour, LL.D., of Utica, N. Y., twice Governor of New York, and the nominee of the Democratic party for the presidency of the United States in 1869.

VI. Epaphroditus Seymour: a distinguished financier, Prest. of the Bank of Brattleboro, Vt., where he died, aged 70, in 1853, having been born July 8, 1783.]

Jedediah of Coventry, Ct., Son of Elder John Strong. 1039

That our forefathers appreciated highly the procurement of the best possible education for their daughters is well known to any one acquainted with the early history of the country. Mabel Strong was sent first to Middlebury to school, and then on horseback 200 miles to Litchfield, Ct., with her brother Moses, to the boarding school of Miss Sarah Pierce, which was then regarded as one of the best institutions of the kind in the land. Litchfield, with its noted law school under Tapping Reeve, was remarkable at that time for its many literary and social attractions.

Nov. 1, 1859, Emilie Kennett Efner b. at Buffalo, Feb. 22, 1840 (dau. of Elijah D. Efner of Buffalo, a resident of the city since 1809, and one of its founders and a soldier in the war of 1812, and Sophia Dorchester): a lawyer. He went in 1849 to Oregon and was clerk of the U. S District Court: was appointed at the organization of Washington Territory Asst. U. S. Dist. Attorney for the Territory: a member of its first legislature: twice elected prosecuting attorney for the First Judicial District. In the Indian war of 1855-6, he volunteered and served from its beginning to its close, and commanded a company of horse, returned to Buffalo in 1857. In the late war he raised a company of volunteers and was elected its captain April 19, 1861 (Co. E, 21st Regt. N. Y. Vols.), and was commissioned its captain May 7, 1861: promoted to the Lt. Colonelcy of the 38th N. Y. Vols., Dec. 17, 1861, and to the Colonelcy of it Nov. 10, 1862, with rank from Oct. 10, 1862: mustered out with said regt. (a two years regt.) June 26, 1863. On Sept. 29, 1863, he was appointed Colonel of the 15th Regt. Veteran Reserve Corps and commissioned March 13, 1865, Brevet Brig. Gen.: mustered out of the service June 30, 1866. He was wounded twice in the battle of Williamsburgh, Va., May 5, 1862; first in the right hand soon after entering the conflict and afterwards by a Minie ball passing through his right hip just at the close of the battle after nearly three hours engagement. This last wound has crippled him for life, shortening his right leg three inches and making his hip stiff, the ball having passed directly through the joint, tearing it to pieces and paralyzing partially the entire right side. He was the second mounted officer who went over the rebel works at Yorktown, Va. In the official report made by Gen. D. B. Birney of the battle at Williamsburgh, Va., Lt. Col. James C. Strong is said to "deserve especial mention for his bravery and gallant conduct during the battle." He was afterwards military commandant of the post at Chicago and at Philadelphia. His wounds disabled him after returning to Buffalo from pursuing the sedentary life demanded by his profession; and he was appointed Assessor of Internal Revenue for the 30th N. Y. District April 20, 1867, which office he held for two years residing at Buffalo. From a brief genealogical record compiled by him, some years ago, of his own ancestors and immediate relatives the author has derived many facts and dates of value especially concerning the descendants of Col. Adonijah Strong of Salisbury. Children:

Her family friends were very loth to have her go so far away, hardly expecting to see her ever again. She went to her new home on horseback being guided on their way only by marks cut in the trees, while her effects went up the Connecticut river by boat. A piece of her wedding dress in the author's possession shows that we can not justly speak of our forefathers of that day as rude in their ideas of dress or of personal expenditure. It was a skirt and dress of crimson color of a very thick damask silk. He was commissioned April 27, 1759, Third Lieutenant in his Majesty's service at No. 4 (Charlestown, N. H.), by Gov. Pownall of the province of Mass. Bay. During the Revolutionary war he was for some time commissary at Charlestown, a point of concentration for the American troops under Gen. Stark. He was also high sheriff of the county and held at different times various local offices of honor and trust. Though small of stature he was energetic and brave. He went once with several deputies to arrest a noted horse thief (Shem Canfield) who had armed himself and hidden in the woods. His subordinates were afraid to arrest him when found as he declared that he would shoot any one who made the attempt. "No! you will not," said Lt. Hunt, and went right up and captured him. He d. Three brothers Farnsworth emigrated in 1740 from Lunenburg to Charlestown, N. H., then a wide wilderness traversed by savages. By 1744 there were nine or ten families located there in log cabins near each other; a saw mill was built, a fort begun, and the settlement named No. 4. At the commencement of the Cape Breton war in 1746, the little colony was several times attacked by the Indians, the mill was destroyed, horses, hogs and cattle were driven off and the people driven into the fort or slaughtered; and the place was soon entirely deserted by its inhabitants. In 1749 Capt. Pinehas Stevens took command of the abandoned fort which was uninjured, successfully repulsed all attacks from the Indians, was rewarded with a sword of honor for his gallantry by Gov. Sir Charles Knowles of Boston, and he named No. 4, Charlestown, in honor of the governor. As one among many instances of the droll humor that prevailed extensively among our ancestors, it is said that when Mrs. Hunt appeared in Charlestown with the first parasol in her hands ever seen there, a good neighbor of hers, Mrs. Bowen, came out of her house with a long handled frying pan taken from the chimney-corner, and accompanied her in apropos style for some distance up the street.
